Ralph E. Pitman Charges Glen Sommerville With Involuntary Manslaughter

ACCIDENT LAST TUESDAY EVE

Judge Sparks Will Let Grand Jury Investigate Fatal Glenwood Accident

A charge of involuntary manslaughter has been filed in court here against Glen Sommerville, the 16-year-old high school student who was driving an automobile last Tuesday night that struck and instantly killed Robert Pitman, a 34-year-old child, in the streets of Glenwood.

Sommerville appeared before Judge Sparks this morning after being notified that a charge had been filed against him, and Judge Sparks will give the matter over to the grand jury when they meet in the near future.

The affidavit was filed in the circuit court and was signed by Ralph E. Pitman, father of the boy that was killed. The affidavit alleges that Sommerville, "unlawfully, feloniously and in a rude, angry and insolent manner, and involuntarily and without malice, kill one Robert William Pitman by then there with an automobile, unlawfully driven at the rate of 35 miles per hour through the streets of the town of Glenwood."

It will be recalled that Sommerville was driving an automobile home from Connersville on that evening, and was accompanied by several high school students and an instructor in the high school. They had been practicing for the track and field meet on the Connersville track, and in the party were two other machines filled with students following close behind.

The occupants of the automobile state that the accident was unavoidable, as the child ran out in front of the machine suddenly, and although the driver swung far to one side, the child continued to run across the road.

No date has been set yet for the calling of the grand jury.

OLD HOTEL BUILDING IS BEING RENOVATED

Extensive Remodeling Inside Said to be Preparatory to Leasing or Selling Place

OLIVER FRAZEE IS THE OWNER

The old Windsor hotel, which was remodeled over a year ago and converted into an automobile sales agency, is being renovated, repainted and repapered inside preparatory to leasing it or selling it for use as a hotel. Many business men and others are hoping that it will be converted into an up-to-date hotel for the need of another hotel has been seriously felt here.

The building, which was bought by Ray Keys, former Ford dealer, for $10,000, was changed extensively and made into a sales room. It was sold on February 3, last to Oliver J. Frazee of Marion, Ind., for $17,500. He is said to be associated in business with J. W. Eikenberry of Rushville, Ind., and Alva N. Harold, living west of Rushville, who is superintending the repairs being made on the interior of the hotel.

It is said to be the plan of the new owners to change the arrangement by putting the dining room in the northwest room where the office was formerly located, and making the old pool and billiard room the office. The building has fifty-two rooms. Ray Keys did not sell the two small business rooms on the east, when he disposed of the hotel building.

ARMY CAMPAIGN TO OPEN MONDAY

Elks Committee Which Will be in Charge of Home Service Drive Appointed Today

BUDGET CLOSE TO $7,000

In Addition to Financing Year's Work, Local Improvements Also Contemplated

With the organization completed today, everything is in readiness for the opening of the Salvation Army Home Service campaign in Rush county Monday. The campaign will continue for ten days throughout the nation and will be the method, the same as used last year, of financing the Salvation Army for another year.

Rush county's quota in the Home Service campaign is only $2,500, but this amount has been increased to approximately $7,000 to take care of some local needs which are desired. Captain J. A. Tench, in charge of the local corps, desires to move the church from South street to the corner of Pearl and First streets which is a much more desirable location, and purchase a house on which he has an option, to be used as a residence for the captain and his family and a general clearing house for local charitable undertakings.

It is proposed to install a public bath and gymnasium in the basement in the house, as well as a storage for old clothes for the poor which are collected. The visiting nurse, Miss Gronier, is reported to be very much in sympathy with this plan as the public bath especially would solve many of her difficulties in her public nursing and social service work.

The Elks will have charge of the Home Service campaign, as they did last year, and Pon Riggs has been appointed chairman of the committee which will be in charge. It was announced today. The members of the finance committee who have been appointed are: Will M. Bliss, Will B. Brann, John Geraghty, Harrie Jones, Harry Wyatt, Glen Miller and Horatio S. Havens.

An appeal to the ministers of Indiana to make Sunday May 9, "Salvation Army Sunday" has been addressed to the members of the clergy in this state by Evangeline Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army. The appeal has been directed through the executive committee of the Salvation Army Home Service Appeal, which will be conducted in Continued on Page Six

APPROPRIATE $25 FOR TOWNSHIP CORN SHOW

Richland Township Farmers' Association Acts Favorably on Plan For Exhibits.

FIVE JOIN 5 ACRE CONTEST.

The farmers of Richland township held a meeting last night in the Butler school building, when regular business matters was taken before the township organization. County Agent D. D. Ball was present, and tested soil for two farmers.

At the meeting last night the organization voted $25 for the township prize in the corn show, and much interest was displayed in the contest. Six farmers from this township also entered the state five-acre corn growing contest.

This is the first township to take such action in regard to the corn show which is planned for next winter. The business men of Rushville will offer $300 in cash prizes and a $50 cup. Plans are being made for the show now so that farmers will begin working for the prize when they plant their corn crop this spring. It has been suggested that township shows be held in connection with the county show and township farmers' organizations, which would provide the prizes, are taking very kindly to the scheme.

VOTING MACHINE STOCK TO BE SOLD

Rushville Will Have to Subscribe in Order to Keep the Factory in This City

AN OFFER FROM KNOX, IND.

Plans Formulated When Concern Came Here Are Changed Because of New Developments

The citizens of Rushville will be invited Monday to buy stock in the Cummings Vote Register Corporation, which has been compelled to change its original plans due to a flattering offer from Knox, Ind., which was considered as a location before the concern came to Rushville.

The offer of Robert L. Tompkins to allow the use of the Old Modern Appliance building until the corporation gets started, still stands, but the officers of the manufacturing concern do not feel it would be good business to begin operations in the building and then have to move out later when they were ready to expand, because Mr. Tompkins will not give an option on the building due to the fact that the Look-Bar company is already beginning operations there.

The Cummings Vote Register company considered Knox as a location a few months ago when it was found that there was an idle factory building, filled with machinery, standing in Knox. The machinery, with the exception of a very few pieces, could be utilized by the Cummings Vote Register company. Officers of the company began negotiations to buy the factory and machinery. They found that the men who owned it already had a deal to locate a box manufacturing concern from Chicago.

This precluded the possibility of locating the voting machine factory in Knox, but the machinery was offered to the concern at a fair price. The situation was just this when Mr. Tompkins heard of the company and made them the offer which resulted in them selecting Rushville. It now develops that the negotiations for the location of the box factory in Knox have failed and that the owners of the factory there will not sell the machinery to the Cummings Vote Register Corporation unless the corporation also takes the building and locates in Knox. The citizens of Knox have made a very tempting offer and the officers of the vote register corporation must answer by new Continued on Page Six

MEXICO CITY HAS FALLEN IS REPORT

Capture of Capital by Rebels is Credited by American Authorities Along Border.

FEDERALS JOIN THE REVOLT

Washington Cut Off From Communication With Mexico City Since Thursday Night.

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 8.—Mexico City has been cut off from communication with Washington, according to indications at the state department today. No dispatches have been received from Mexico City since Thursday night.

El Paso, Texas, May 8.—An unconfirmed report reaching Juarez from Chihuahua City stated that General Benjamin Hill had captured Mexico City and that President Carranza had fled.

The report of Mexico City's capture by the revolutionists was credited by American authorities here.

Five important cities have fallen into the hands of the rebels and three federal generals have joined the revolution, the reports stated.

The chamber of deputies in the federal district has declared for the revolution, according to the message received at Juarez rebel headquarters from the commander at Chihuahua City.

The third troop train left Juarez for the south last night to be used to fight the rebels in Mexico City.

Accepting the report of the capture of Mexico City at the full value, citizens and the rebel garrison at Juarez, launched a celebration.

Led by the military band, citizens and officials paraded the streets.

Reports from Chihuahua, according to a later version given out at Juarez headquarters, stated that General Hill, leading the Obregon forces in conjunction with the forces under General Gonzales, received the surrender of the Carranza troops in the national capital this morning.

SCHOOL ENUMERATION SHOWS GAIN OF ONE

There are 1,230 Persons of School Age in Rushville as Compared to 1,229 Last Year

TOWNSHIP REPORTS NOT IN

The school enumeration of Rushville, which was compiled today and made public by the school board, shows an increase of one over last year. The persons of school age counted last year totaled 1,229 and this year the count disclosed 1,230. Although the gain was insignificant, it is regarded as much better than a loss, which has some times been shown by the enumeration.

There are 575 white males, 609 white females, 28 colored males and 28 colored females. The number of people of school age is the basis apportionment of the state school fund.

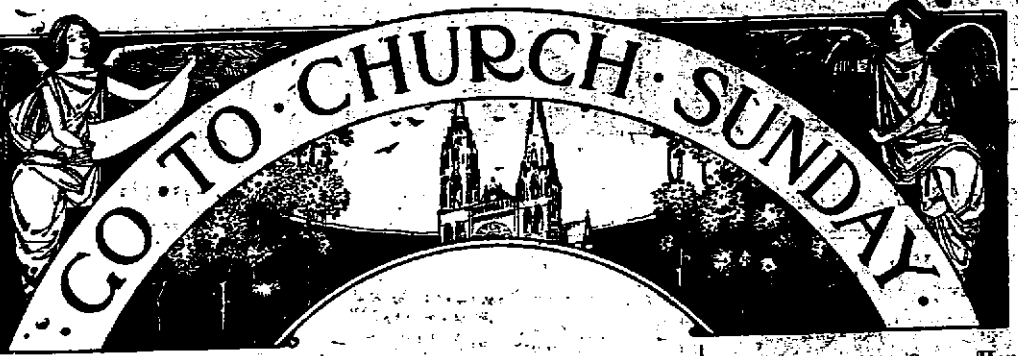

Some of the township trustees reported the enumeration in their townships at the meeting of the county school authorities until all have been reported.

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease.

He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well.

If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arcine mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished. It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffing, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days.

Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint gargle the throat twice daily and snuff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed.

The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy.

Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine.

HE DOES HEAVY WORK

"For five years I have been troubled with my kidneys," writes Bert Dawson, 712 E. Walnut St., Canton, Ill. "I do heavy work and that, with being on my feet all day, is a strain on a man's kidneys. My trouble started with severe, sharp pains over my back. The medicine I took gave some relief, but the trouble came back. I bought a bottle of Foley's Kidney Pills, and before it was gone my pains had entirely left me, and I have not been troubled since." TODAY FIRST STEP IN ORGANIZATION

County Chairmen Elected All Over State Today Will in Turn Elect District Chairman Tuesday

STATE COMMITTEE CONTEST

Friends of Senator James E. Watson Are Insisting That Chairman Wasmuth Shall Retire

Today there was held in every county in the state a meeting of republican precinct committeemen to elect county chairmen, which is the first step in the organization procedure which will end Wednesday with the election of the republican state chairman by the state central committee, which is composed of the chairmen of the congressional districts.

The democratic organization is perfected in the same way, as provided in the state primary law, and both the democratic and republican precinct committees met today to elect county chairmen.

Both county central committees were reorganized at meetings this afternoon. For Riggs was re-elected republican county chairman; Dr. F. H. Green, vice-chairman; George Helm, secretary, and Albert L. Winkler, treasurer. The meeting was held in the court house.

John Wallace of this city was elected democratic county chairman, succeeding W. S. O'Neal. John McCoy of this city was elected vice-chairman; James H. Tarplee, secretary, and Wilbur Stiers, treasurer. The committee met in democratic headquarters.

The republican county chairmen will meet at Liberty next Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock to elect a district chairman. On what is done in the sixth district will depend largely the fate of the present state organization, which Senator Watson's friends maintain is unfriendly to him. They are insisting that E. M. Wasmuth, present state chairman, will retire. Walter F. Bossert, the sixth district chairman, is not friendly to Senator Watson, his friends believe, and they will attempt to elect Walter Bridges of Greentfield to succeed Bossert.

The same sort of a contest is being conducted by Watson men in the fourth and ninth congressional districts and if the present chairmen are ousted in these districts, it is declared by the Watson men that they will have complete control of the state organization. The situation is viewed this morning by the Indianapolis Star, which says that first indications were that Warren T. McCray, the primary nominee for governor, would join with Senator Watson in demanding a new state chairman, but that developments last night indicated that the McCray forces would be willing to retain Wasmuth as chairman. Continuing the Star says:

Two of the men mentioned as a successor to Mr. Wasmuth are M. Burt Thurman of New Albany, third district chairman, and Lawrence E. Lyons of Brook, tenth district chairman and manager of Mr. McCray's primary campaign. John G. Bryson of Brazil, representing the fifth district on the state committee is urged as a compromise.

There are a few questions, however, that must be settled before the two leaders can proceed with the organization of the committee. First, they must overcome objections that W. H. Hays, Republican national chairman, is said to have registered against unseating Mr. Wasmuth, and, second, they must be assured of control of the new state committee.

Senator Watson's room in the Claypool hotel was the scene of many conferences throughout the day. Early in the day the senator conferred with Senator Harry S. New on questions pertaining to the state convention next Wednesday and Thursday. Senator Watson is to deliver the keynote speech and Senator New is to be permanent chairman of the convention.

Mr. Hays later joined the conference, and Mr. McCray also entered the room soon after his arrival from Kentland. Late in the afternoon Joseph B. Kealing of Indianapolis conferred with the two senators and Mr. Hays. The men who attended the meetings would not disclose their line of discussion on the state chairmanship question nor would they talk about their probable

HOLDS LEVER ACT CONSTITUTIONAL

Dan Simms, Special U. S. District Attorney, Takes Up Argument on Motion to Quash.

MINERS, OPERATORS CHARGED

Charles E. Hughes, Attorney for Defendants, Charges Lever Law is a Legal Foundling.

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Ind., May 8.—Maintaining that the Lever act is constitutional and that it is still in force, Dan Simms, special United States district attorney, today took up the argument for the government on a motion to quash the federal grand jury indictments against 125 coal operators and miners.

Charles Evans Hughes, chief counsel for the defense, filed the motion yesterday and completed his argument today.

Hughes characterized the Lever law as a "legal foundling found on the doorstep without any parentage." He insisted that the law was class legislation of the most offensive character and reiterated his former assertions that it is in direct violation of the constitution of the United States.

The former supreme court justice declared that the law did not apply and was not meant to apply to the situation similar to that under which the indictments were charged.

Because the fuel administration was authorized under the legislation of the law, Hughes maintained that the general provisions did not apply to the coal industry. He also asserted that the offense under which the coal operators and miners were indicted was not committed at a time course in the state convention. If the supporters of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood insist upon having the national delegation instructed for the general for President because he won a plurality in the primary. All of these questions, however, are said by close friends of the leaders to have been thoroughly discussed when the fuel administration was in existence and therefore held that the indictments were invalid under the Lever act.

Simms paid high tribute to the argument presented by Charles Evans Hughes, but he stated that the law is unconstitutional and that the charges made in the indictments were sufficient and binding.

The power of congress during the war was unlimited Simms told Judge Anderson in the federal court where the trial is under way.

NAVY LARGEST IN WORLD

Admiral Benson Says America Had More Men Than British

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 8.—The American navy had the largest personnel in the world when the armistice was signed, Admiral Benson, chief of the navy operations during the war, told the senate naval investigating committee today.

No navy expanded as did ours after we entered the war, he said. When the armistice was signed we had 500,000 officers and men which was more than the British had; it is recognized that we had the largest naval power the world has ever seen. The admiral did not elaborate this statement.

SAYS THE SOCIALISTS ELECTED PRES. WILSON

Morris Hillquit, Convention Keynote Speaker, Declares That He Ran as a Radical

ATTACKS ADMINISTRATION

(By United Press.)

New York, May 8.—Woodrow Wilson was elected president over Charles Evans Hughes by the vote of the socialists, Morris Hillquit told the national convention of the socialist party, in a keynote speech here today.

"Woodrow Wilson must have evidently separated the workers from their native faith," Hillquit charged.

For he it remembered that in 1916, Woodrow Wilson ran as a radical. Therefore the socialist party took a short cut of the democratic party. Thousands of radicals voted for Wilson instead of casting their vote for a hopeless candidate.

Then Hillquit launched into an attack on the Washington administration. The mention of the name Eugene V. Debs now in the federal prison at Atlanta, caused a great demonstration.

The national convention will nominate a candidate for president and vice-president and adopt a party platform.

The platform will include the following planks: appeal of the espionage act and restoration of civil liberty; end of profiteering; revision of the tax law; payment of war debts from the war profits of profiteers; socializing of all basic industries; release of all political prisoners; recognition of Soviet Russia and independence of Ireland.

Room-size Gardens Pay

Potential gardeners who are wondering just how to go about it are advised to send to the Department of Agriculture and ask for a copy of the Garden Book. An editor recommending it says: "This is the official, illustrated how-to-do-it book. A plot of ground even if it's no bigger than a blanket, plus this book, plus a little work, means fresh vegetables that are really fresh, all summer. Surely here are words of encouragement to any holder of a bit of ground no matter how small."

That cultivation of the little tract does pay is evidenced by the report of amateur experimenters who have raised vegetables for table and canning, on gardens measuring 10 by 10 and 10 by 15 feet. Truly marvelous crops are reported from more generous areas, such as 15 by 25 feet.

The great advantage of these seemingly insignificant garden plots is that the average home gardener has neither the time nor the energy to put into a big garden, and if he tries to make one, the results are not satisfactory. The room-size plot presents no such difficulties. There is just enough work to be enjoyable and results are fairly sure.

Look at the smallest bed-room in the house, consider its surface as sufficiently large to produce food for a real family, send for Uncle Sam's Garden Book, go forth into the open sky in the back yard and go to work!

"Mother Hubbard" Senators

While the Senate was considering the post office appropriation bill, various associations of employees protested against reduction of the drop letter rate from two cents to one cent. Senator Dial, of South Carolina, outraged by this unmannered action by a group of rank outsiders delivered himself of these statesmanlike remarks:

"Mr. President, I am a little tired of outside interference with legislation. If I thought I could come here and other Senators could not come here and legislate independently, I would advise them all to go home and put on a 'Mother Hubbard' and help sew buttons on children's clothes and darn the socks, and sweep the back yard, and perform work belonging to the feminine gender, and old ladies at that."

Having thus demonstrated his independence of outside class influence, Senator Dial reoffered an amendment to the bill appropriating $625,000 to maintain an aeroplane service between New York and Atlanta, appealing in its support "to the fair-mindedness of the Senate." While he was thus economizing on the service and making one-cent drop letters possible, it is strange that the South Carolina Senator overlooked the little item of congressional franking. Congressman Fuller of Massachusetts, as the result of a careful study, came to the conclusion that the use of mails for purely political purposes by members of the national legislature is costing less than $150,000,000 a year, a trifling sum even in these days. By saving this amount we could afford to carry drop letters for a cent, and we might even abolish the zone rate on periodicals—and perhaps give Atlanta the aeroplane routes.

SMOKE WINGERTER'S FAIR PROMISE CIGAR

Life of Sen. Miles Poindexter, Who Hails from the Northwest

Senator Miles Poindexter is a Southerner by birth and a Westerner by adoption.

He was born in Memphis, Tenn., but while an infant, his parents, who were Virginians, returned with him to their native state. But as soon as he had been graduated from Washington and Lee university, he joined the steady stream of youths seeking fortune in the west and located, at Walla Walla, Wash., to practice law. Poindexter was among those who "grew up" with the country. A stranger in a strange land, he had no choice but to work to win. When he "landed" in Walla Walla he had $10 and his profession. He hung out his shingle, however, and within a year he had established a flourishing practice and had married Miss Elizabeth Gale Page, daughter of a local prominent ranchman. He had barely finished another year in Walla Walla when he was made prosecuting attorney of the county.

Five years later Poindexter moved to Spokane, then just beginning to flourish as the capital of the "empire of the northwest". He became assistant prosecuting attorney of Spokane county and held the office for seven years. In 1904 he was elected

- 1868—Born at Memphis, Tenn.
- 1891—Graduated from Washington & Lee University, in both academic and law courses.
- 1892—Married to Miss Elizabeth Gale Page, of Walla Walla.
- 1892—Elected prosecuting attorney of Walla Walla County.
- 1897—Moved to Spokane, Wash., and for six years was assistant prosecuting attorney.
- 1904—Elected judge of the superior court at Spokane.
- 1908—Elected to Congress from Third District.
- 1910—Elected to United States Senate.
- 1920—Candidate for republican Presidential nomination.

judge of the Superior court. He served as judge for four years, leaving the bench in 1908 to run for Congress in the newly created Third district.

Poindexter ran as a Progressive Republican and was elected and retained the title until he was elected to the Senate two years later. Thus, naturally, he was lined up with Colonel Roosevelt in the organization of the progressive party in 1912 and he campaigned extensively in its behalf. Even after the progressive party had given up the ghost he continued to designate himself as a progressive, not returning to the republican fold until his re-election in 1916.

While a member of the House Poindexter took a prominent part in the bitter but successful battle to unseat "Uncle Jo" Cannon as Speaker. At that time the Speakers held powers in naming committees that made him second only to the President in official importance.

In the present campaign, Senator Poindexter is regarded as more or less of a "dark horse" running in the open. If a deadlock occurs among the republicans at Chicago over the selection of a candidate, his managers expect the delegates will turn to him as a compromise choice. In this contingency, they point out the strategic position he will occupy with the entire delegation from his own state and with a substantial number of delegates who have been quietly pledged in eastern and middle western states ready to battle for him to the last.

Americanism is Poindexter's battle cry.

"The principles of Americanism ten policies of our foreign relations, are imbedded in the great, unwritten policies of our foreign relations, such as the Monroe doctrine and the farewell address of General Washington. These documents are already a part of our constitutional government," Poindexter said in a recent speech.

"Americanism cherishes the principles of nationality as opposed to those of internationality and individual property against communism. Americanism demands undivided allegiance."

Poindexter's present term as Senator expires March 3, 1923. He ranks nineteen in point of continuous service in the Senate. He is chairman of the Senate committee on mines and mining, and is a member of the naval affairs, pensions, interstate commerce and post office committees, in addition to others.

He lives with his family at 1750 N. street, Washington.

Poindexter likes hunting, fishing and horseback riding better than any other outdoor sports. Often around the capital he may be seen on a horse and when he goes back to his home in Spokane, he spends days in the field with gun and dogs. He is known as a good fisherman in the streams near Spokane. He also likes baseball and cross country walks.

Mrs. Poindexter often may be seen riding with her husband. She is a daughter of the open country and her father's ranch used to be the scene of many a race on ponies of the northwest.

Miles Poindexter is a serious-appearing man. Heavy but not fat, he gives the impression of a man bent on work and more of it. He has little hair on his head.

"Dangerous Waters" Today

William Desmond adds materially to his popularity by his original characterization of Jimmie Moulton in "Dangerous Waters," which is being shown at the Mystic today. It is a satire on the high jinks of the idle rich, some of which have provided material for sensational newspaper stories.

The central characters in the play are Jimmie Moulton, scion of a wealthy family, who after a few years on a ranch in the West returns to New York to find his sweetheart has fallen under the influence of a social idler and sybarite, and is going the pace. Jimmie tags along with the fast set in order to keep an eye on the girl, and finally, disgusted by a Bacchanalian orgy at which they are all guests, succeeds in rescuing the girl from the he-vamp's clutches by the bare-knuckle method.

There is a surprise punch in the picture which lead the audience to believe, for a time, that a tragedy has happened to Jimmie. This is portrayed so realistically that the solution is not found until the final big climax.

"The Other Half," which will be offered Monday, is a drama of the masses and classes with the "brotherhood of man" as the keynote. It is a timely subject in this day of unrest and agitation and will strike a responsive chord. A true reflection of every day life in American families, both rich and poor, with characters whom we all know and whose joys and sorrows are our own this production in human and understandable.

J. Martin Trent, the hard-boiled money-king; Katherine Boone, the rich girl whose eyes were opened to the hard conditions of the poor; "The Jazz Kid," the laundry drudge who just couldn't make her feet behave; Jimmie Main, the red-blooded son of toil; Donald Trent, who believed in "no sentiment in business"; Caleb Fairman, who tried to make a truthful newspaper play; all these are types whose paths cross and recross in a play full of real human interest, rich in emotional content and genuine clean humor.

Mrs. A. L. Aldridge will be hostess for the members of the Coterie Monday afternoon, at her home in North Perkins street. All members are cordially invited to attend.

Many from here attended the dance given in the Mays Opera house last evening. Thirty-five couples were in attendance. The Rose City orchestra from Newcastle furnished the music.

The Loyal Daughters Class of the Main Street Christian church will be entertained by Mrs. Perry King, 218 East Tenth street, Tuesday evening. She will be assisted by Mrs. Mayme Wilson, Mrs. Elsie Meek and Miss Florence Smiley. All members of the class are urged to be present.

Celebrating the last day of school the pupils of the Orange school enjoyed a picnic in dinner yesterday at the Christian church in Orange. The domestic science class furnished part of the dinner. In the afternoon a program was given by the pupils. Besides the pupils, a few guests were present.

Miss Ruth McIlvaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. McIlvaine, and Ralph Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cassius Gray, both living near Carthage, were united in marriage Tuesday afternoon at Carthage. The bride has been assistant in the Bank of Carthage and Mr. Gray is owner of the Carthage Machine shop and garage. They are residing with Mrs. Gray's parents and will be at home to their friends after June 1.

The Sexton Missionary Society will hold their regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Warrick. The program for the afternoon will be as follows: Bible study, Mrs. Minnie Weiss; "Disciples of Christ in Mexico," Mrs. Jennie Steele; "Our Mexican Orphanage," Mrs. Vera Warrick; "Mental Healing and Our Schools," Mrs. Jesse Winkler. Mrs. Katie Wright will give the facts for the busy woman and Mrs. Corral Clifton will have charge of the meeting. A good attendance is desired at this meeting.

Friday evening.

The discovery that the machinery could not be purchased subject to removal was discovered until last week when W. J. Schnessler, husband of the president of the concern, went to Knox to arrange for the removal of the machinery to this city. He came back here and reported to the officers what the citizens of Knox offered. Mrs. M. C. Schnessler, president of the vote register company, wrote Knox to have the offer put in writing, which was done, and it was read to the Rushville business men last night.

Mrs. Schnessler explained last night that she did not intend to take the concern out of Rushville without first "laying her cards on the table." She said that the concern had come here in good faith, had never solicited a person to buy stock and would not leave without first giving Rushville a chance to keep the factory.

The business men explained that they could not promise what the people of Rushville would do, but that they could organize soliciting committees which would go out Monday and determine whether Rushville wanted to keep the plant here.

The sale of stock is necessary, it is explained, for the purpose of raising money to start work on a building where the manufacture of voting machines may be started as quickly as possible. Providing enough stock is sold to keep the plant in Rushville, work on making the dies will be started at once in Indianapolis so that manufacturing can be started when the plant is completed.

A meeting of the board of directors of the vote register company will be held Wednesday when it will be determined whether the plant shall remain in Rushville or whether they shall go to Knox Friday night and accept their proposition.

The board is very anxious to get the voting machines in production because it is felt that business is being lost every day by the delay. A contract was lost at Anderson a few days ago because the company did not have a plant in operation. The

Overhead Expense An Item This Year

"Parasols, Fifty Dollars Up"

I saw this sign in town. I wonder, if they cost this, up, if they'd be lower, down.

New York, May 8—Goodness knows it's bad enough the way we ring the changes on the female figure, switching it from the hour glass effect to the straight up and down and now back to the hour glass again!

But now that they are changing parasol shapes on us, it is really too much. Since the days of prehistoric man round parasols have been perfectly good enough for anybody. What more logical shape could be desired than a round parasol to keep the rays of a round sun off a round head. Circular sunshades have certainly been adequately acceptable to everybody until now when some 1920 genius has sprung the "Over-the-top" parasol on us as a novelty of the season.

The "Over-the-Top" is nothing more nor less than a half of a regular parasol. The stick runs up to the middle of the straight side and the ribs flare out in a perfect half moon effect on the other side. In simple words you just take a regular parasol, cut it in half, charge double, and you have an "Over the Top".

Another new shaped sunshade is the aeroplane which is a narrow oblong with a stick in the middle. One especially attractive aeroplane model is of lustrous baronet satin in white with the tip of the ferule, the tips of the ribs and the handle all incrustated with tiny glass globules like seed pearls.

To be sure there are a few regulation round parasols still left to raise over us if we can raise the price. As a contrast to the airy all-over lace models, chiffon lined, and those flower-like effects of row on row of petal shaped taffeta scallops that form a parasol like a huge and gorgeous rose, are the stunning new imported duvetyne parasols. They are actually of the same silk duvetyne that we used last season for gowns and are still using for wraps. They are all lined in contrasting shades of thin silk. A cerise one is lined in the same shade but has a tiny fluting of black taffeta around its edge and large artificial flowers of black silk and velvet clustered at every other rib point. One of grey is lined in orange silk with a banding of orange flowers while a peacock blue duvetyne has a fringe-like edging of white monkey fur with a rosette of the monkey fur on the white handle.

Less bizarre and also less expensive—a little—are parasols of heavy white linen done in Balkan and Romanian embroidery of gay colored wool, resplendent ones of black and gold and blue and gold metallic broadened ribbon, fuzzy parasols of just one row after another of narrow silken fringe and silky meshed tricotette ones to match your sweater.

every county in Indiana beginning May 10. It will continue through the executive committee of the Salvation Army Home Service Appeal, which will be conducted in every county in Indiana beginning May 10. It will continue through May 20 by which time it is hoped that the full Indiana quota will have been raised.

May 9 has been chosen as the date for Salvation Army Sunday because it is the Sunday immediately preceding the inauguration of the convass for the army in Indiana. Under the new plan of organization, a single annual appeal is made and the old tambourine collection method has been virtually dispensed with.

The day will be observed not only in churches, but will also be made a time of service by the Army's workers and officers wherever they go. Special gatherings and religious ceremonies will be held for prayer and praise, according to the plans being made at the Indiana headquarters of the Salvation Army here.

Madison county commissioners openly expressed their preference for the Cummings machine in preference to the other machine shown, but they were afraid they could not be made and delivered in time for the election in November.

The shows arrive here Sunday, and will be ready for the first night's entertainment on Monday night. The carnival company also has two brass bands, a steam calliope, and several free attractions. TAKE

PEPSINCO

Sometimes in front just under the heart, sometimes around under the left side, under the ribs behind the heart it's a sharp or acute pain; sometimes a dull heavy pain, leaving soreness. It's gas on the inside generated through gaseous foods, or because of systematic inability to properly assimilate the food, this gas soon collecting, forms a lump that causes the pain. This is only one of a dozen different indications of indigestion which PEPSINCO immediately relieves. Keep PEPSINCO handy and take it the next time.

BEAN POLES AND POLE BEANS

(National Garden Bureau)
This is a good time to scout around for poles for the beans, both string and lima. Pole beans have grown into disfavor because of the American characteristic of seeking short cuts and labor saving devices. Bush beans have the call, particularly in the string bean class. There are two very good reasons for growing pole beans instead of the bush variety.

First of all, a pole bean furnishes a vastly greater quantity of beans per plant than does the bush variety and identical in quality. Bush limas are not prolific bearers, comparatively speaking and the pole lima is much to be preferred.

Secondly, the bearing season is almost twice as long.

A third reason is that it is much less wearing on the back and legs to pick beans standing up than it is stooping over and squatting down in the hot sun as is necessary in harvesting bush beans.

One reason pole beans are grown so little compared with the dwarf varieties is because of the trouble and difficulty of securing and setting poles. It isn't as bad a job as it looks for once poles are secured they may be put away in the fall and used for several seasons. Putting them in place is something of a job but it is worth the trouble.

Pole beans take longer to come into bearing and are a fine continuation crop for bush beans.

One usual mistake is in getting too short poles. On six-foot poles the vines will tumble back when they have reached the top, intertwine and smother themselves. It is best to get eight or nine-foot poles and set them a foot deep in the ground. Carry strings from the top of one pole to another and the vines will take the strings in a hurry, leaving the beans to hang down in plain sight where they can be easily harvested.

If there is a scarcity of poles, make a wigwam or tent planting. This is done by planting the beans in a circle around the pole from two to two and a half feet from the base of the pole, the beans about eight inches apart. Let strings come from the top of the pole to each bean and the vines will make the tent, once they get going.

A very practical and easy way to grow pole beans in as porch vines instead of morning glories or wild cucumbers. They grow as fast, make as heavy foliage for shade and present a neat appearance. The beans are easily picked from the porch. Besides this is an economy of garden space. They may be planted six inches apart for this purpose if they are watered regularly and given fertilizer. It is a great convenience merely to step to the back porch for a mess of beans.

Fence Posts That Last 40 Years

DON'T replace another decayed or broken post with one that will undergo the same process of rotting in a few years. It is a big loss of money—as much as $50 and more a year. Long-Bell Creosoted Yellow Pine Posts will mean an end to all repairs and replacements and are easily obtained.

CREOSOTED Yellow Pine POSTS

These everlasting posts of selected yellow pine of slow growth are practically decay-proof. The Long-Bell hydraulic vacuum creosoting process treats every wood cell right to the heart and makes it practically indestructible. Why not fence on short-lived posts that split and rot? Treat your fence posts by using posts treated the Long-Bell way. Last a Generation. Fine Posts will give long service for forty years and more. They will hold a single nail as long as it is a nail.

FISH-GAME BUREAU TO PORT CLUB HOUSES AID THE SPORTSMEN TO BE PROVIDED

Quebec Installs a New Division That Will Assist Tourists in Finding Best Game

MONEY IS APPROPRIATED.

Montreal, Que., May 8—In future when American sportsmen wish to visit the wilds of this province in quest of game or fish a bureau here will be at their disposal where guide, game wardens and inspectors will be on hand to tell the Nimrods where they are "biting best" and where the game comes in droves, waiting for the pull of the trigger.

The new fish and game information bureau is part of a greater colonization plan launched by the provincial government, and for which $5,000,000 was voted at the last session of parliament.

Inquiries from the United States already indicate that the largest number of American fishermen and hunters as well as tourists, since before the war, will come north this summer and the new bureau is only one of many plans to look after their needs.

PLANS OF SALVATION ARMY.

May do Much to Prevent Recurrence of a Strike That Tied up
Country Last Fall

Indianapolis, Ind., May 8—Major Arthur R. Robinson, chairman of the executive committee of the Home Service Appeal for the Salvation Army in Indiana, has announced a new phase of activity which the Salvation Army has undertaken.

Providing clubhouses for longshoremen at the great ports of the nation is what the Army is doing in the centers of ocean shipping. The Salvation Army, realizing the importance of keeping the brawny ship workers contented and interested in their surroundings, has laid out plans for establishing places of comfort and cheer for their exclusive use.

The first of these buildings is being erected at 17th street and 5th avenue, New York. Others are to be built in Cleveland, Buffalo, Duluth and Western coast cities. Foods and soft drinks will be served at actual cost and the use of the social privileges will be entirely free.

"This work is a part of the campaign of human service and assistance carried on under the direction of the Salvation Army," said Major Robinson. "It may not seem at first thought important to the people of Indiana to have contented ship workers busy on the docks of our port cities but one only has to recall the longshoremen's strike which gave our foreign commerce something like a three-months vacation, to realize that the dock workers play a very particular part in everyday business and on their attention to duty depends the steady flow of our great commercial life."

The Home Service Appeal in Indiana will be held May 10 to 20 to enroll friends of the Salvation Army in this state. A fund to pay off indebtedness and for the upkeep of the Army program in 1920 will be raised.

KENTUCKY DERBY IS BEING HELD TODAY

Louisville is Crowded With Race
Lovers to See Three Year Olds in Race Events

LATONIA RACES ARE NEXT.

Louisville, Ky., May 8—Society leaders and racetrack toms, men high in political office and clerks, professional race track followers and the simon pure followers of sport for sport's sake combined to make a picturesque assemblage here today for the opening day of the Churchill Downs meeting and the biggest of all the nation's race events—the Kentucky Derby. It was estimated 25,000 visitors were in the city for the races.

One hundred and seven three-year-olds were nominated for the event and only one, Sam Freedman was withdrawn. The derby appears to be an open race. Danask, winner of the Louisiana Derby, is a strong favorite.

Among the most likely contenders are On Watch, Donnacona, Golden Broom, Blazes, Constancy, Prince Pal, John P. Grier, Vice-Chairman, Miss Jemima and Faisan D'Or. It was estimated that the Derby will be worth approximately $50,000, America's richest turf event.

The Latonia meeting will follow Churchill Downs, opening June 2 and closing July 7, a full 31 days of racing. The Latonia Derby, a $30,000 event, will probably be run on June 12.
